The Richmond Chapter of the University of Virginia Alumni Association will give a garden party on the lawn of the Commonwealth Club on Saturday, June 14. A large number of alumni from all parts of the country will be in Richmond on that day, and will be present at the coming year's meeting, which will be one of the most brilliant and interesting affairs of its kind given in Richmond in many years. On the day following the members of the class of 1908 will leave the city on a special train to attend the celebration of finals at the university.

Finals at the university this month will mark a distinguished and notable gathering of former students of that institution, as well as the usual house parties of pretty girls that are usually entertained.

Annual Meeting. The annual meeting of the Confederate Memorial Literary Society was held yesterday morning at the museum with Miss Sally Archer Anderson, president, presiding. The society was fortunate in having present at this meeting the regent for the South, South room, Mrs. C. H. Fillman, of New York City, a most enthusiastic and successful worker for the museum. Her report was of special interest.

All annual reports presented made a good showing, an evidence of the very flourishing condition of the society at present, and an encouraging outlook for the coming year. Miss Mattie Harrison's motion picture, "The Times-Dispatch," a letter of thanks for its generous aid in publishing all meetings and giving space to any report asked for by the society, was unanimously carried. The National Museum in Washington presented to the Confederate Museum a set of photographs of the medals presented to Commodore Murray by the maritime nations of Europe in recognition of the benefits their commerce and navigation had received from the use of his wind and current chart, sailing directions and the researches connected therewith.

There were six new annual members received into the society yesterday. These were: Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart Bryan, Jonathan Bryan, Joseph St. George Bryan, Thomas Pinckney Bryan and John Mason.

Invitations Issued. Mr. and Mrs. S. Buford Adkins have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Ethel Gates, to Raymond Willis Gill, the ceremony to take place on Wednesday evening, June 13, at half-past 6 o'clock in the Grace

A committee has been appointed to look after the children who may come unaccompanied.

Attend House Party. Says a recent Chattanooga, Tenn., exchange:

"A beautiful and interesting bevy of sponsors and maids are those for Virginia, who represented the Sons of Veterans, and Missouri—Mrs. S. G. Dew, chairman, of honor; Richmond, Miss Edmond Gray, sponsor; Roanoke, Miss Dorothy Harrison, maid of honor; of Richmond, Miss Flossy Stuart, of Norfolk; Miss Rulienette Lee, of Irvington; Miss Eliza Hamilton, of Danville; Miss Bess Carter, of Danville; sponsor-in-chief, of Missouri; Miss Grace Lee, sponsor-in-chief, Army of Northern Virginia."

The pupils of Mrs. William R. Reinhardt will give a delightful recital this evening at half-past 8 o'clock at the Conservatory of Music, corner of Laurel and Broad Streets. An interesting and elaborate program has been arranged, in which the pupils, who are all well, will take part, and the event will be a very pleasing one. Decorations will be in yellow and white daisies and red roses.

Interesting Event. One of the prettiest affairs of the past week was the annual "Sophomore-Senior Party," held at Richmond College last evening, when the class of 1915 entertained in honor of the graduates of 1912. The sophomore president, Catesby Graham Jones, of Gloucester County, with an efficient staff, presided over the affair. The faculty and invited guests from 5:30 to 10:30 o'clock. The lovely old campus was hung with rosy lanterns, and a number of pretty girls served fruit punch from tables banked with pink roses. An orchestra played for the reception, and later for the old-fashioned country dances and Virginia reels.

Annual Banquet. Among the entertainments of the past week of interest was the annual banquet of the Phi Zeta Gamma Sorority of the Woman's College. This was given Monday night at the Jefferson, and the reports for the past year were most encouraging. Among the active members attending were: Miss Edith Wood, of Nimrod Hall; Miss Annie May Jones, of Cheriton; Miss Ivy Osborn, of Round Hill; Miss Elizabeth Staplecamp, of Clarksville; Miss Menette Vellines, of Smithfield; Miss Lavy Wallace, of Texas; Miss Cornell Northcutt, of Texas; Miss Ophelia Nelson, of Seattle, Wash.; Miss Fannie Cooke, of Cheriton; Miss Mary Lawson, of South Boston; Miss Kathleen Winston, of Richmond; Miss Laura Nelson, of Richmond, and Miss Mary Taylor, of Cape Charles, representing the alumnae.

Organ Recital This Evening. An interesting event for music lovers in Richmond will be the organ recital, which will take place this evening at 8:15 o'clock, at the Park Place Methodist Episcopal Church. The program will be rendered by Prof. Ben J. Potter, assisted by Mrs. George Harter, Charles Andrews and others. The recital is to be repeated this evening, on account of the bad weather of the date previous. A social hour will follow the musical program, and all interested are cordially invited to attend.

Important Meeting. The Junior Auxiliary of Lee Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will hold their last meeting before the summer months this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home for Needy Confederate Women, 3 East Grace Street. A full attendance of all members is urgently requested.

Aged, Wrinkled Faces Easily Rejuvenated
 (From The Beauty Seeker.)
 An aged face is often only a mask to a comparatively youthful person. Beneath is a countenance young and fair to look upon. It is a simple matter to remove the mask. Ordinary mercurial wax to be had at any drug store, gradually absorbs the worn-out surface skin, in a week or two the user has the loveliest, pinky white complexion imaginable. An ounce of the wax usually suffices for the transformation. It is put on at night like cold cream and taken off in the morning with warm water.

This remarkable treatment is invariably effective, no matter how muddy, sallow or discolored the complexion. Freckles, moles, patches, liver spots, pimples, blackheads and other cutaneous blemishes, naturally vanish with the discarded skin.

To remove wrinkles, here is a recipe that cannot be too highly recommended. Powdered saffron, 1 oz., dissolved in 1/2 pint water, hazel, or a wash lotion. It acts instantaneously, and is wonderfully effective.—Advertisement.

William C. Cooper, of Danville, Found Guilty of Voluntary Manslaughter.
 [Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
 Danville, Va., June 3.—William Clarence Cooper was this afternoon adjudged guilty of voluntary manslaughter by a jury in the Corporation Court, after being out one hour and forty minutes, and sentenced to serve four years in the penitentiary.

No appeal was taken after delivery of the verdict, and court was forthwith adjourned until to-morrow morning.

The case was terminated in short order, as compared to the first trial, when more than four days were taken. This time but one day and a half was consumed, a great many of the witnesses being eliminated.

The instructions were given to the jury this morning, and the testimony for the defense made their pleas, leaving the afternoon to the Commonwealth's attorney.

Jack Lee, of Lynchburg, made the keynote speech for the defense. The scene following the verdict was pathetic, the defendant's mother being visibly affected.

Cooper killed J. E. Brooks on July 6 in the vicinity of the tobacco company's stable in a drunken brawl. He is a well-connected youth in the city.

FALLIERES DID NOT RECEIVE USUAL HONOR
 Reason Made Known for Apparent Discrimination by King of Spain.

BY LA MARQUESE DE PONTENOY.

ALFONSO XIII's bestowal of the Order of the Golden Fleece upon President Poincare on the occasion of his recent visit to Paris, serves to emphasize the fact that whereas it has been conferred on most of the chief magistrates of the French republic, it was withheld from Armand Fallieres. There has been a considerable amount of speculation as to the cause of this discrimination against him. But the real reason is to be found in the fact that it is essentially a Catholic order, that its knights, alike in Austria and in Spain, are required to swear fidelity to the church and to devote themselves to its protection, and under the circumstances it was felt that it would hardly do to grant it to Fallieres, who as President, had sanctioned the complete rupture of all friendly relations between the church and the state in France.

Whereas, former chief magistrates of France were compelled to submit to an elaborate ceremony of investiture, and to take the oath of the order, King Alfonso dispensed with all this in the case of President Poincare, and contented himself with having the insignia on proceeding to lunch at the Elysee Palace a few hours after his arrival in Paris.

The insignia consists of the jewel of the order, which is worn around the neck on ordinary occasions by a cord of ribbons, with hat, on great occasions, and when in full uniform, by a gold chain, in which the letter B for Burgundy, commemorating that Duke Philip the Good of Burgundy, who founded the order, and furzons, or armoines, set in gold, constitute the back of the setting of these stones are engraved the names of the knights who have worn the collar in question, which is only held by the recipient for life, and on his death has to be returned to the Emperor of Austria, or to the King of Spain, who each has the right of conferring the order. Thus, the collar worn by King Humbert of Italy was the same as that which had originally belonged to Christopher Columbus, and that of the late Emperor Frederick of Germany had been worn by hundreds of years ago by Fernando Cortez. The collar which has just been received by President Poincare has been owned, among others, by Prince Bismarck, whose name figures as such, engraved on the back of one of the medallions. Although newspapers have refrained until now from drawing attention to the fact—

It was, however, the only collar of the order available at the present time. For the number of knights is extremely limited—limited, indeed, by the number of collars. I would only add that as a knight of the Order of the Golden Fleece, President Poincare becomes, inso facto, an honorary cousin of the rulers of Spain and of Austria, and will, even when he retires from the chief magistracy of the republic, still remain entitled to rank as a member of the court of Vienna and of Madrid immediately next to the members of the reigning house.

In no description of the achievement.

William C. Cooper, of Danville, Found Guilty of Voluntary Manslaughter.
 [Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
 Danville, Va., June 3.—William Clarence Cooper was this afternoon adjudged guilty of voluntary manslaughter by a jury in the Corporation Court, after being out one hour and forty minutes, and sentenced to serve four years in the penitentiary.

No appeal was taken after delivery of the verdict, and court was forthwith adjourned until to-morrow morning.

The case was terminated in short order, as compared to the first trial, when more than four days were taken. This time but one day and a half was consumed, a great many of the witnesses being eliminated.

The instructions were given to the jury this morning, and the testimony for the defense made their pleas, leaving the afternoon to the Commonwealth's attorney.

Jack Lee, of Lynchburg, made the keynote speech for the defense. The scene following the verdict was pathetic, the defendant's mother being visibly affected.

Cooper killed J. E. Brooks on July 6 in the vicinity of the tobacco company's stable in a drunken brawl. He is a well-connected youth in the city.
